

Jobs @ Voltea

Unlocking the world's water potential

Field Service Engineer(Sassenheim, the Netherlands)

Voltea is a young ambitious company supported by Unilever ventures, Rabo Ventures and Pentair. With our team of 40 employees from 10 different nationalities we are working on the award-winning new way to desalinate water for industrial and domestic purposes.

Voltea is now moving from being a research and development company to becoming a full-scale commercial and manufacturing business. To achieve this we are currently recruiting for highly motivated and enthusiastic professionals.

The Role

The Field Service Engineer will represent Voltea in the field. You will be commissioning and installing water treatment CapDI systems, liaising with the Customers service team, monitoring system performance and providing service training, mainly in Western Europe. You will be a significant member of a fast-growing team.

Main tasks include

- Liaising with Customers and their service teams, you will install and commission CapDI on Customer site, often working as the sole representative on site
- CapDI, a PLC-controlled purification system, will need pipework and electrical connection work, before checking the system settings, to ensure the unit operates as required
- You will use training materials to instruct the Customers in the operation of the CapDi systems, basic diagnostics and maintenance programmes
- At the Voltea facility, you will ensure all lessons learned from the field are fed back to the development teams and contribute to the improvement of future designs
- You will support the day-to-day production operations on days when you are on site.

Jobs @ Voltea

Unlocking the world's water potential

Qualifications

- 5+ years experience in a similar role
- Good mechanical and electrical skills
- A natural problem solver and “hands-on”
- Able to travel to customer sites, valid driving licence
- Fluent in Dutch, good spoken English, other languages are an advantage
- Experience within water desalination, filtration or disinfection systems will be a distinct advantage. Full training will be provided.

We offer

A dynamic and international work environment where personal development is stimulated by various training programs, a competitive salary & great secondary benefits.

Interested?

Apply via our Website Voltea.com/careers

For further information contact Louise Kenter on +31(0)252 200 140